Town passes operating budget

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point town council's first priority at the final meeting of 2014 was the review of the town's 2015 operating budget, which must be passed before the calendar year ends, although amendments can be made at a later date if necessary.

The budget was given council's approval after a thorough review of the lengthy document, with all agreeing that falling oil prices and cutbacks in oilfield company spending could take their toll on planned developments, with less money coming into the town's coffers as a result.

The possibility of decreased income didn't side-track council from giving the final two readings from a bylaw allowing borrowing of the necessary funds for the treated water storage, which all agreed was essential to the town's operation.

Another bylaw was given third and final reading, this one closing the lane on the east side of the six-plex in the new residential subdivision.

Emergency preparedness

Council received the terms of reference for the Emergency Advisory Committees information.

The St. Paul Regional Management Mutual Aid Agreement covers the region that includes the towns of St. Paul and Elk Point, the County of St. Paul and the Summer Village of Horseshoe Bay and provides support of the other municipalities if an emergency affected a municipality to a degree that their resources would be insufficient to manage the situation. Town council approved the signing of the agreement.

Santa swamped with wishes

Santa Claus was swamped with wishes when he made his annual stop at the F. G. Miller High School Christmas Brunch, against a background that included the school's well-dressed Tree of Warmth and a massive heap of stuffed animals collected in the school's TK's Toys for Tots campaign.

Family tie in Christmas Lighting Contest

Parking lot snow piles blocking vision for drivers turning onto Highway 41 were one of the snow-related concerns brought to council. The owners of those parking lots will be advised that the piles must be removed, or the town crews will do it at the property owners' expense.

Windrows of snow are being removed along streets before more snow falls and must be plowed, council was told. If the windrows were not hauled away, more plowing could reduce streets to single lanes, Mayor Parrish Tung noted.

Frozen snow and ice along Main Street curbs was also listed as a concern, with town manager Myron Goyan assuring council that the additional plowing needed to remove it would be done as soon as time permitted.

Wildrose MLA focuses on the future

JANANI WHITFIELD
Review Staff

The floor-crossing of nine of its MLAs on Dec. 17 led to a "very difficult week" for the Wildrose party, said local MLA Shayne Saskiw, but his spirits were lifted by some brighter spots in recent days.

After the nine MLAs joined the ruling Progressive Conservative government, the Wildrose's standing as the Official Opposition fell into question, since the Liberals and Wildrose both had five sitting MLAs.

The Speaker of the Legislature ruled last Wednesday that the Wildrose would continue to serve as the opposition.

"I think it's the first time that the Speaker has lifted the spirits of the Opposition," Saskiw said. "That will allow us to continue in our role."

The Wildrose also selected veteran MLA Heather as its interim party leader last week, a move which Saskiw found positive. He described her as personable, a good listener, understanding of Albertans' needs and having a "sharp policy mind."

"It's very reassuring to have someone with so much credibility and experience take over as leader of our party."

Saskiw said that he became aware of Wildrose MLAs' discussions to cross the floor near the end of November. At that time, party leader Danielle Smith asked him to meet with Premier Jim Prentice's chief of staff, with whom Saskiw had a pre-existing relationship. Saskiw met with him as directed but said that following the meeting, "I withdrew myself from the process."

While other members of the party continued to discuss crossing the floor and reuniting the two conservative parties, Saskiw said he wasn't involved in those talks.

"It became very clear that things were moving very quickly and I was just not comfortable in participating," he said.

Although Smith had urged a reunification of the two conservative parties, it's clear that there is no merger and that the Wildrose executive and party supporters do not favour such a move, said Saskiw.

"I've heard very clearly from my constituents that they want me to stay put," he said. "They're the ones that elected me and that's the one I take direction from. It's the constituents that are my boss."

When asked about his feelings on the nine MLAs who defected, Saskiw said, "At this point, each person made their respective decision and they're going to have to be accountable to their areas."

He said those MLAs who were left in the Wildrose were putting their focus and energy on being the official opposition – no small task, given that he personally now assumes six critic portfolios.

"People have told me to stay put to advocate for the things that matter to them," he said, adding this includes a functioning health care system, a balanced budget and the wise spending of taxpayer's dollars.

Pengrowth announces first steam at Lindbergh

CALGARY, ALBERTA-- Pengrowth Energy Corporation is pleased to announce that it has commenced steam operations at the Lindbergh Thermal Project located in the Cold Lake area of eastern Alberta.

"First steam is a significant milestone for the Lindbergh Project as it represents the completion of construction and commissioning of the facilities and is the last major milestone before first oil," said

Derek Evans, President and Chief Executive Officer of Pengrowth. "We are pleased that the Lindbergh facilities have been successfully commissioned and that first steam was delivered on-time. We look forward to the production and associated funds flow growth from this project in 2015 and beyond."

Pengrowth has been operating a two well pair pilot at Lindbergh for the last 34 months, which has produced approximately 1.6 million barrels to date with a cumulative steam oil ratio of 2.1. November production from the pilot averaged approximately 1,760 barrels per day with an instantaneous steam oil ratio of 2.3.

The company began commissioning and start-up activities at the facility in the first half of October, with expectations for first production in January 2015, which would meet the company's original timeline for the project.

- "It's in you to give" is the great motto of Canadian Blood Services (CBS). From one blood donation, red blood cells can be extracted for use in blood loss and surgery; plasma, the liquid part of the blood can be given to those with clotting problems; and platelets can be used for cancer and transplant patients. One unit of blood can help many. Make it a goal of 2015 to give blood regularly.
- At this time of year, some people make resolutions to change their life for the better. Why not make a resolution to make someone else's life better, too? If you are aware of people who are lonely or depressed, try reaching out to them. Bring them home for dinner or visit them in their own home. It will help them and make you feel good too.
- Speaking of resolutions, here are 7 goals for a healthy life: sleep 7-8 hours per night; eat breakfast every day; don't smoke; use alcohol moderately (or not at all); don't eat between meals; maintain proper weight; and exercise regularly. Perhaps you can include these goals in your resolutions as well.
- And here's an idea for losing weight: Canadians consume an average of 26 teaspoonsful of sugar per day. If you cut that amount in half, you'll lose 16 pounds in one year. Combine this with exercise, you'll lose even more.
- We would also like to extend our thanks for the pleasant relationships we have built with our customers during 2014. We wish everyone good health, prosperity and happiness in the coming year. And thank you for reading Capsule Comments!

EDITORIAL

Use respect, snowmobilers

If you're a snowmobiler, it's almost impossible to resist the lure of a blindingly white, untouched expanse of new-fallen snow. What fun to race across its beauty, sculpting elegant curves in the pristine layer of frosty perfection.

But... whose field is that, and do you have permission to be there? If not, why are you in there? Maybe you aren't aware that snowmobiles wreak havoc on hayfields, and damage the growth of forage crops.

Highway ditches are a popular riding spot, but remember that your headlights are just as hard on oncoming traffic as truck lights on high beam. And it may be tempting to zoom into someone's yard and burn a few power turns into their lawn, but guess what? You're trespassing, and that's against the law.

Sled safely, sled sober, and please remember to use respect while you're out there having fun.

First Night, long awaited, old trails

IN ITS EARLIER YEARS, THE REVIEW OFTEN ENDED THE YEAR WITH THE CHRISTMAS ISSUE. HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF DEC. 30 IN...

1999

Elk Point was all set to welcome the new century with a First Night Festival on Dec. 31 that would include family skating, horse-drawn sleigh rides, a snowman building contest, musical entertainment and fireworks. Local residents brightened up the Christmas season with their light displays, with a very ambitious Wayne Mudryk even hoisting a sleigh to his rooftop, with six pairs of authentic antlers showing clearly over the ridge, leading viewers to wonder if he'd had some help from Santa in creating his first-place display.

2004

The long-awaited designation of the Iron Horse Trail from Waskatenau to Heinsburg as part of the Trans Canada Trail became official when North East MuniCorr members gathered in -30 degree temperatures to install a Trans Canada Trail sign along the trail in St. Paul. County council approved a total of 14 recreational facility grants that helped the groups that operate the venues to cope with the high cost of insuring their facilities.

2009

Elk Point Baptist Church congregation and guests was taken on "a Christmas journey along old, old trails that lead to Bethlehem" at their Sunday School concert, with a huge "Christian Christmas tree" tree taking centre stage, its triangular shape representing the Holy Trinity, lights representing Jesus, the Light of the World, and the red ornaments representing the blood Jesus shed on the cross. F. G. Miller High School continued its 33-year tradition of hosting a Christmas brunch for students, staff and special guests.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

OUR VIEWS

SECOND PLACE in the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Lighting Contest went to Jack and Leona Bretzer, whose extensive display that wowed the judges also included Jack's woodworking shop and the hedge that borders their yard, which is clearly visible to everyone driving through town on Highway 41.

Tie for third

The judges also awarded two third prizes, one of them going to many-time winner Nemesio Tuliao with this beautifully coordinated display.

The other third-prize winner was Elvis Sibal, whose eye-catching array of lights and decorations lights up the nights just across 51 Ave. from the Seniors' Recreation Centre.

"IS HE REAL?" one of the judges wondered about the waving Santa as the team visited the Buksa - Bouchard home.

'NIGHTMARE' ON CIRCLE DRIVE - This portrayal of 'The Nightmare Before Christmas' was a favourite with the judges, who were pleased to give it an honourable mention, along with the 50th Ave. winter wonderland created by Myrna Fox, an innovative ice-block igloo created by a resident near the north end of 51 St. and an array of inflatables featuring a polar bear and penguins.

Pre- and post-Christmas wins for Avs

'Twas a few days before Christmas, but what a nice early present for head coach Dwayne Odgaard this past Sunday when his Bantam Avalanche team travelled to Boyle, winning 6 to 5 and picking up two points. That's better than two front teeth; although I bet he was grinning from ear to ear and beaming proudly because his son, the "Big O" was a big part of the win, scoring a natural hat trick; he buried the first three goals in the first period, bang, bang, bang, right under the Christmas tree. At this point the Avalanche was winning 3 to 0 when they retired to the dressing room after 20 minutes. The "Big O" didn't go for a big nap after that, the opposition just finally clued in and checked him a little closer. He never scored another one but spent some time in the sin bin, a little too aggressive on the back check I suppose, but I'm sure Santa is going to let that one slide. Team captain, the highly competitive "Warrior Warren" Ference with two goals including one while shorthanded, plus a couple of assists to boot. Hayden "Hot Wheels" Ludlage also scoring one. Nicholas "Sparky" Anderson with three helpers.

Grandma got run over by a reindeer! I bet Peewee Avalanche coaches Marty Bendixen and Tyson Stafford thought about asking the bearded guy to do the same to the Mallaig goalie. Well, OK, that's naughty and I know you're supposed to be nice at this time of year and of course Santa wouldn't do that, but he was there watching the game and saw for himself that the Mallaig goaltender was a real Scrooge and never gave the boys anything to work with, no rebounds, he either covering them up or kicking them off to the corner, nothing, not even a lump of coal for Christmas. They peppered him with 62 shots, more than enough to win a game, but he was just plain stingy.

Review Sports

Charlie "Angel" Rogal came floating down from above to score one, assisted by Devon "Naz" Nazarchuk, "Lightning Liam" going coast to coast, over the fields and through the woods to Grandma's to score one too.

Come Dasher, come Dixer, come Vixen, come Blixen, come Konnor..... what the heck is he doing there? "King Kong Konnor" Poitras and the rest of Santa's good helpers from the Novice Avalanche team pulled a heavy loaded sleigh all the way for 60 minutes and ended up in a 10-all tie with Saddle Lake on Saturday, Dec. 20. "King Kong Konner" with five goals, Seth Morton with two, Vaughn Ockerman, Cash "CC" Capjack and "Kid Kade" Fontaine all scoring. Kady Bourne, Ethan Castle -Wasson and Gavin "Giver" Kadutski with an assist each. A really good job of holding down the workshop by rookie goalie, the littlest elf on the team, Kale Hoeving. Also having a strong game, on the blue line, the unsung hero Brendon "Blue line" Haesch-Baker

Coach Jacques de Moissac and his Micro Novice Avalanche had thoughts of Christmas dancing through their heads on that Saturday morning when they took on the St. Paul Canadiens; it was very hard to stay focused, but even with all the distractions of Christmas, they played a great game. Long legged Codey MacKinley and "Mad Dog" Madden Flamond scoring, "Hurricane Kayl" Warawa blowing in from Hawaii the night before with an assist.

Happy birthday going out Dec. 23 to Scott Dallaire, our former A G Ross arena caretaker for the past three years. And a big happy birthday going out on Christmas Eve, to our present caretaker Tyler Loughran. Two really good young men who deserve at least a pat on the back if nothing else!!

P.S. Dear Santa: All I want for Christmas is a Stanley Cup for my Maple Leafs, if that's not too much to ask! OK, how about some Maple Leafs underwear?

Now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week "Half the game is mental; the other half is being mental." Last week's answer to: "The three important elements of hockey are fore check, back check, and pay check"- Gil Perreault.

(EDITOR'S NOTE:

Unfortunately, we went to press last week before this arrived. Sorry, Sportshound, hope Santa got your letter in time despite the early deadline!)

Post-Christmas win, tie

The Christmas turkey didn't slow down the Peewee Avalanche on this past Saturday afternoon when they played against the Bonnyville Pontiacs here at home doubling them up 12 to 6 and it could have been much, much more, if not for the Pontiac goalie who faced 63 shots. Putting on a great afternoon performance "King Cole" Bendixen having one of his best games of the year with a hat trick and four assists. Talented skater Charlie "Angel" Rogal also with a hat trick and an assist. Two goals and two assists for slick stick handling "Lightning Liam" Ludlage. Long legged Devon "Naz" Nazarchuk tearing down the wing with two goals. Team captain "Coast to Coast" Connor Lychak covering both ends of the rink with a goal and the rushing defense woman "Raging Paige" Henderson with a goal and three helpers. Between the pipes in this one. "Sexy Slader" Hardcastle wasn't near as busy as the other end; but still coming up with some sweet timely saves.

When the Bantam Avalanche were re-tied at the beginning of December one of the first teams they faced was the Cold Lake Freeze; who proceeded to give them a nasty 9 to 0 spanking. Welcome to Tier 2 A you might say! It was something the boys never forgot and were out for a little respect on Saturday when they hosted Cold Lake right after the peewee game, The Bantam Avalanche have become a much better team as of late, they have stepped up their game to the next level and can now compete with the league's best. Down 6 to 4 after the second period they came from behind to end the game in a 7-all tie. Two goals each for Nicholas "Sparky" Anderson and the "Big O" Brody Odgaard. Chad "Pick Pocket" Poitras picking up a pass from Kaiden "K Rock" Evans - Anderson opened up the throttle scoring on a break away to tie the game a 4-all in the second. He also picked a couple of pockets and added two assists in the third when the boys put the pressure on. Work horse Austin "Astro" Axley and team captain the rugged "Warrior Warren" Ference with one each as well.

Now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week "I don't like hockey. I'm just good at it." Last week's answer to: "Half the game is mental; the other half is being mental." - Jim McKenny.
